Employment Suitability Comments

The site has a long established employment use and is situated adjoining Wallbridge Trading Estate just off the A362. Whilst the location is prone to flooding the Mill buildings have been successfully adapted for live work use.

There is a large tract of land accessed off The Retreat which comprises former railway land now used for container storage which may have some modest development potential subject to flood alleviation.

Conclusions regarding site employment potential

The listed Mill buildings have been restored to live work accommodation. There may be scope for small scale employment development on the container storage although this will need to be sympathetic to the listed buildings.
