2016/81/FC	5. For discussion and decision - The use of glyphosate herbicides & pesticides Chris Stringer explained that there had been mounting concerns around the effects of the use of the herbicide, glyphosate. He noted that FTC had not used glyphosate in a couple of years however it was used by both MDC and SCC. Shane Collins gave some background on glyphosate and the current scientific research that showed a correlation between the increased use of glyphosate and the increased cases of significant health problems and diseases. Cllrs and members of the public were asked to discuss whether weeds in Frome were a problem. Three groups felt they were and two felt they were not. Emma George, a Glastonbury Town Cllr, talked about their experience and process after they banned the use of glyphosate in June 2015. She explained that GTC compared all viable alternatives to tackling weeds and did a cost analysis. They discovered that the use of hot foam was the most effective in killing the weeds and for time and cost. She explained that they had negotiated with The Landscape Group for them to use the 80 labour hours they calculated they used to tackle weeds in the past to hand weed where the foam had not reached. The groups were then asked what the advantages and disadvantage of the alternatives (hand weeding, burning, hot foam, electrocution, salt solutions). Three groups felt hot foam would be the best although one group was concerned about the use of palm oil. One table preferred hand weeding and burning as they were

	concerned about the other options getting into the water course. The final group felt all of them were options and possibly in combination with each other.
