Anita noted this presentation was just a snapshot of her year and she had had an incredible time. She hoped it came across that she was Frome through and through and loved the town with all her heart. Anita ended her presentation with a quote that summed it all up for her, “A meaningful life is not being rich, being popular, being highly educated or being perfect... It is about being real, being humble, being able to share ourselves and touch the lives of others. It is only then that we could have a full, happy and contented life”.

Anita thanked Miles Macey for their work on power point presentation.

Ali Barclay thanked Anita and said how she had found her to be inspiring, especially for her honesty and openness during her treatment.

Maxine Crawley said she knew it wasn't the year Anita had hoped for, but she had created a year that had brought so much to so many. She thanked Anita for her kindness and said she couldn't wait to see what she would do next.

5. Questions and comments from the public and Cllrs

None was received.

6. Presentation from Cllr Anne Hills, Leader of the Council

Anne said how proud she was of how the town had pulled together during the past year. It was certain the community had stepped up to the plate. In a short time, Frome had over 300 volunteers, introduced sharing cupboards, wild about sharing boxes and two community fridges. The Town Council took a role in community support and immediately thought how to support the most vulnerable. The 'nearest 5 neighbours' campaign and the neighbourhood networks were the outcomes of this. FTC Staff adapted to the situation, changed roles, and manned a telephone rota to support the community. In the summer there were grass mazes, chalk to help with social distancing, litter picking and the hoedown (with special thanks due to Cllr Shane Collins). Celebrations of the community happened differently, with Halloween Window Wanderland instead of trick or treat, Christmas lanterns instead of the Christmas light switch on. During the pandemic FTC supported and enabled the scale up of community feeling.

Anne finished her presentation by showing a film created by FTC staff that was submitted to the Academy of Urbanism.

Rich Ackroyd congratulated Anne and noted she had a difficult year, leading from zoom conferences, but she managed it well.

7. A look back at the fantastic Frome Window Wanderland events

A video was shown of the Halloween Wanderland in October 2020 and the Window Wanderland during the half term holiday in February 2021. Sara Butler noted what a great video it was, and the events were a great example of what Frome could do.
